

Mendeley – plan of use

If anything unclear, contact Pavel.

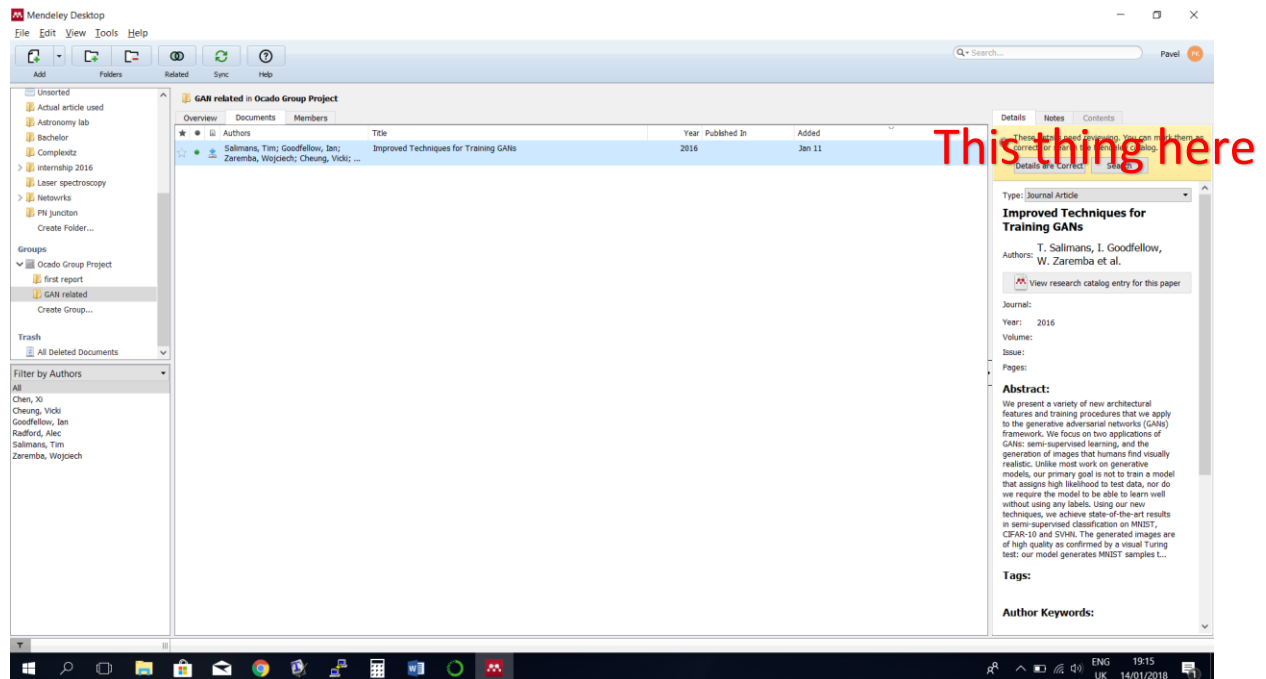

Using Mendeley is intuitive, especially with Mendeley Desktop GUI. However if needed, I can demonstrate some basic stuff with it on Wednesday meeting.

In the group folder, there will be a folder for each report (report one, report two, final report). Whenever you write anything that would require citation, make a note about in text and place that given article into the folder of that report.

Example:

The CNN are very good for classification of food from Fusion [Knottenbelt, 2015, Feasting at Imperial]

When you click on the article, there should appear a window with detailed informations about the article. Please make sure this information is correct!!!!

Once we have all the resources available, I will export the bibtex citation file and change all the “citations” into actual citations. When writing the temporary citations, please make sure that the source can be easily identified for me.
